

SOCIAL MEDIA DANGERS:

WHAT ARE YOUR KIDS SHARING?

WHY IT MATTERS?

Children often share information without understanding the consequences.
As a parent, you are their first line of protection.

WHAT YOUR KIDS MIGHT SHARE?

- Live location (stories)
- School name or uniform
- Family details
- Personal photos & selfies
- Daily routines (when they go out/come back)

POSSIBLE RISKS

- Identity Theft
Stealing your child's personal information to impersonate them or misuse their data.
- Cyberbullying
Using shared posts or photos to harass, embarrass, or hurt your child online.
- Online Predators
Strangers may use shared details to gain trust and contact your child.
- Loss of Privacy
Once something is posted, it can spread and stay online permanently.

COMMON MISTAKES PARENTS MISS

- Child's account is public
- Accepting unknown followers
- Sharing live updates
- Posting too much personal info

HOW PARENTS CAN PROTECT THEIR KIDS?

- Set accounts to Private
- Turn off location services
- Monitor friend/follower lists
- Review privacy settings regularly
- Talk openly with your child about online safety
